h1: What do you think is working well at NC State to support diversity on campus?
Open-End Comments (Topic: Student Organizations)

h1	Race	Gender
The amount of clubs and organizations dedicated to diversity awareness.	AfAmer/Black	Female
I think emails to students from directors of offices and even from the student body president helps to show that NC State supports diversity on campus.	AfAmer/Black	Female
When the Chancellor, Dean, or Student Body President speak on behalf of diversity on campus. They are in high ranking positions and we respects their comments and thoughts.	AfAmer/Black	Female
The different organizations that are here. But I also feel like if students aren't open to diversity, you can't force it on them or change their way of thinking. After having downloaded the Yik Yak app and seeing what some of the fellow NC State students had to say about other races (more often blacks), I can see that we are an unwanted entity of NC State.	AfAmer/Black	Female
I think the programs and organizations the target minoritites on campus are a great place for people of similar backgrounds to meet and congregate. The administrative offices that are supportive of minorities are an essential part of the minorities' expreience here at State.	AfAmer/Black	Male
I think NC State is provides several multicultural programs and student organizations that foster the goals of creating a diverse campus.	AfAmer/Black	Male student organizations	Asian	Female
Various events and student organizations are nice to have. The support of whoever the "big voice" of NCSU is is helpful (in emails and on the website).	Asian	Female
Certain individual organizations and groups have done well to promote programs that encourage diversity--for instance, the College of Sciences has put a great emphasis on women in science, and their programs (including the Faculty in Action seminar series and the Women in Sciences dinner) have been great.	Asian	Female
Students and organizations	Asian	Female
There are lot of events and programs catered to various kinds of people. Also, there are a lot of organizations for people to involve in. I have heard and seen a lot of pictures of students from various cultural backgrounds enjoying participating in cultural events and appreciating other cultures. NC State (faculty and students), in general, are very receptive to people from other backgrounds.	Asian	Female
I think that clubs and organizations are doing a really good job of spreading diversity and cultural experiences.	Asian	Female
Clubs, events	Asian	Female
I think that Student Organizations here at NC State are doing a good job of addressing the issue of diversity here on campus. However, I think there is some improvement to be done in terms of implementing their proposed solutions. This begins with collaboration across organizations so campus wide events/programs can be planned to give all of the community here at NC State the opportunity to educate themselves about groups that identify differently from them.	Asian	Female
There are lots of clubs that promote diversity so everyone can fit in if they want to	Asian	Female
Different showcases, programs from individual cultural clubs on campus.	Asian	Female
Promotion of clubs and events that are run/organized by groups of students from different cultures really gives (well at least for me) awareness of the multi-cultural background of campus. And I really appreciate that the 2014-2015 SBP (Mau) and the 2015-2016 SBP (Cyrus) have been bringing up the need to be a strong support network for everyone on campus after there is a serious WolfAlert that comes up.	Asian	Female
Various dining hall events (cultural foods), many different student organizations (ethnic, sexual orientation, religious groups).	Asian	Female
Supporting women in engineering and allowing for multicultural organizations.	Asian	Female
I think that holding the different diverse events around campus is very helpful to opening students up to different views of life. / I also believe that high "officials" such as our Student Body President emailing/talking about diversity does have an impact on the climate.	Asian	Male
How they hold different events and organizatios that support diversity.	Asian	Male
It has a lot of clubs and greek organizations that promote various cultures	Asian	Male

I love this school. There are many diversity related clubs and events that are always going on. There are also race specific honor societies and teams as well. Everyone on campus is friendly too.	Asian	Male
Different clubs and organizations that support and celebrate diversity.	Asian	Male
Diversity class with Tracey ray / Many opportunities for expressing identity in clubs ect.	Asian	Male
I like how there are many different student organizations that support diversity and that NC State is always doing its best to reach out for diversity.	Asian	Male
I think NC State's announcement of diversity really helps to support diversity on campus. Also, different events, organizations, and activities that were advertised and put through helped to bring everyone together.	Asian	Male
The different types of students and clubs	Asian	Male
Student Organizations ,Faculty and Administrative Staff are all very much sincere in this issue.	Asian	Male
Groups and organizations specifically aimed towards promoting and advocating towards diversity and doing an excellent job towards supporting diversity. They include and promote many events and activities for students to attend, unfortunately, only the people who are aware of these groups and organizations hear about these events. I think the groups and organizations who support diversity do an excellent job, but as a whole I do not believe that NC State is Doing all it could to support and promote diversity.	Hispanic/Latino	Female different offices, resources and organizations	Hispanic/Latino	Female
I choose to believe that NC State is doing what they can to support diversity on campus based on the fact that social programs, clubs, and events are actively seeking to inform, and engage the students with their respective groups and events. Many resources such as the University Scholars Program, The Minorities Office, and the occasional ethnic food days at the dining halls are great ways that NC State provide a touch of diversity to the students.	Hispanic/Latino	Female
There is absolutely no tolerance of intolerance or racial/gender bullying. This was made clear after the dissociation of the fraternity with the "burn book". Also, the diversity clubs and activities are easy to find and clearly advertised as much as everything else.	Hispanic/Latino	Female
it is alright, there should be more emphasis on diverse clubs...such as appreciation for diverse dance teams such as NCSU Nazaare	Hispanic/Latino	Female
Faculty/staff do a good job of not saying anything that could be racist or perceived to be attacking any race. The emails we get from the student body president and the chancellor help show that the university as a whole does not want racism, sexual assault/harassment, or any type of harm to their students to occur. The campus police also does a good job of hosting events like "Do You See What I See" in order to give students a chance to voice their concerns or opinions.	Hispanic/Latino	Female
Campus events hosted by clubs. Especially ones that are in public areas like the Brickyard. There is a higher chance I'll engaged in a diversity event that is being openly broadcasted in the Brickyard than attending an event that I received an invitation to.	Hispanic/Latino	Male
Everything works fine but I feel that diversity teaching is needed at a more personal level, not all were raised with different cultures and they need to accept others. Meanwhile those that have experienced other cultures need to get rid of any hatred. Lastly, creating clubs, frats, or organizations to a certain group of people and labeling is only detrimental to the university, just make it free for all, accept all and enough with the multicultural emails, why not invite everyone ! Or anyone. I dont know, its a touchy subject but organize things based on what people like or agree on, not what they were born with.	Hispanic/Latino	Male
All of the clubs and programs that help support diversity and open culture to whoever is interested.	Hispanic/Latino	Male
Promoting and providing for African American, American Indian, Hispanic/Latino, Asian-American, and other minority clubs and groups to have a visible presence on campus is a good thing.	Hispanic/Latino	Male

I don't really see a problem with the support of diversity on campus. Students are allowed to express their own beliefs in religion, sexual orientation, and ethnicity. There are ample amounts of departmental and faculty support for students, as well as clubs to connect with other students who have similar interests/beliefs. The college can only do so much to support diversity. The biggest problem with diversity support is in students' upbringing. If students were raised in a home that lacked support for diversity, or are pressured by their peers (friends) to act negatively towards diversity, then it is much more difficult to promote awareness and acceptance with those students. I believe the education on understanding, accepting, and embracing diversity needs to begin at the home and at an early age to make the biggest impact in society.	White	Female
Great groups/clubs and festivals/events for diversity. They could do better marketing of these activities, maybe through the use of the Poole College of Management students/faculty. I believe that they could do better with providing more support for single/married parents on campus. It would be nice to have more people to talk to on a similar level.	White	Female
I think just accepting diverse students and students having classes and being in different organizations with people who are different ethnicities than themselves.	White	Female
Student groups do a good job of being welcoming to diverse groups of people, faculty/staff are excellent at treating all students with respect and hearing their opinions in class. Administrators and community leaders like the chancellor and student body president do an excellent job of making it clear that intolerance doesn't have a place at State. Events like the vigil held for the Muslim students from Chapel Hill make me proud to be a part of State's community.	White	Female
Different clubs and associations that aim to support diverse groups, and also events that promote the awareness, although events should be more publicized for students.	White	Female newsletters, campus activities, campus organizations. diversity day	White	Female
The various campus programs and organizations that promote diversity.	White	Female
There are plenty of clubs and organizations and events that promote diversity and embracing diversity. I also think they do a good job of advertising to the public when these events are however they still seem uninviting. I haven't attended many events because they seem to not be worth my time or i'm afraid it will be awkward.	White	Female
There are many organizations to provide support to a diverse group of students, and they are well advertised. A message of inclusion is stressed.	White	Female
I feel that the opportunities to get involved with a diversity organization on campus are there, its just up to every student to make the effort to make it part of their time at NC State. If someone truly cares about diversity, they can make it a part of their time at NC State.	White	Female
I think there are a huge variety of clubs and organizations that promote and support diversity throughout NCSU's campus. In my experience in CHASS and in the Design College I think that the students and faculty and staff promote diversity in a healthy way.	White	Female
NC State provides plenty of opportunities and clubs to support student diversity and to give students a chance to get involved or experience student diversity.	White	Female
International clubs / Diversity workshops / Diversity content in class	White	Female
I do believe that the incorporation of diversity into nearly every element of campus, this being classes, dorm life, and clubs, is a positive and is a great way to combat prejudice and bigotry.	White	Female
Student leaders voicing their opinions	White	Female
Having the different organizations to help support different groups of people.	White	Female
Various policies, clubs, organizations and offices	White	Female
There are a variety of clubs/groups that participate in diversity awareness as well as host diverse events. It is also clear that NC State values diversity due to the awareness and resources the university provides on the website and in other social events.	White	Female

We are supporting and promoting our multi-cultural greek organizations. We are providing plenty of events to educate people on race and ethnicity. We have lots of classes available about different cultures, countries, and religions for those who want to know more.	White	Female
Different clubs and events. Foods in dining halls is eclectic and introduces people to new things.	White	Female
There are numerous multi-cultural organizations on campus that promote diversity, and NCSU frequently hosts cultural activities.	White	Female
Various student organizations	White	Female campus events to encourage diversity, having global meal days and clubs for diversity	White	Female
I think each group, whether that be racial or gender, has opportunities to speak for themselves in clubs, programs, and events.	White	Female
I think that NC State is truly putting in great efforts into creating events, organizations, and messages to help individuals feel welcomed and comfortable.	White	Female
I think NC State does a good job at promoting diversity support in terms of race and ethnicity, there are always constant reminders on campus and through emails about race/ethnic diversity. The variety of clubs/groups is also working well.	White	Female
NC State has a wide range of organizations that support people of all different positions, from GLBT institutions and clubs, racial/ethnic organizations and women's/gender-based organizations in order to create safe and encouraging communities within the larger NC State community.	White	Female
The community and organizations.	White	Female
I really like that diversity is one of NC State's key factors. Growing up a Greek-American, I come from a background different than most people. I truly have enjoyed sharing my culture with all kinds of people I have encountered at NC State. I think there are many clubs and organizations that encompass all sorts of people so I think NC State does a good job with that. I definitely can sense the diversity while being on campus. I love it.	White	Female
There are many student groups on campus that focus on nurturing the diverse thoughts and ideas of students. I also like how the Union Activities Board has all kinds of events that anyone would enjoy.	White	Female
I think that the different clubs and unions really help make a difference	White	Female
The professors and student organizations	White	Female
Honestly, just being friends with/in clubs with/doing class projects together with many kinds of people has done more for me than any university program ever has. I don't really have time to go to events (I work a lot), so it's day to day stuff that helps me more than big events. I think ncsu is doing a good job, but since I'm white I may not be the best person to answer this question. It's not topic I generally talk about with my (diverse) friends.	White	Female
I think NC state does a good job of letting people know that we support diversity and that we have resources to enhance diversity. We have good student organizations that support diversity that create safe spaces.	White	Female many programs and organizations to build community amongst people among smaller groups.	White	Female
Clubs and organizations	White	Female
There are many organizations for all kinds of people. The staff is very accepting and encouraging. The people here are mostly kind and open minded.	White	Female
I think the atmosphere on campus is very inclusive and students are provided with a strong network for support. I think the resources on campus are great and various organizations and activities that are held on campus allow students to come together while supporting common ideas and goals.	White	Female

I think it's great that there is a Diversity requirement to fulfill at NC State. I also think that the various clubs and organizations do an excellent job of welcoming diversity and using it to enhance people's cross-cultural competence.	White	Female
The clubs, student involvement, fairs that NC State offers gives students a change to interact with others.	White	Female
Multiple diverse student organizations	White	Female
NC State is extremely accommodating and welcoming to diverse students, faculty members, et cetera. The current programs, clubs, events, and organizations on campus perform superbly.	White	Female
Offering diverse clubs, activities, social events, etc.	White	Female
i think individual organizations (CNR Ambassadors and EL Program) focusing on diversity helps. GBLCTA helps.	White	Female
There are lots of organizations and activities that support diversity on campus.	White	Female
I think that NC State has done a great job of making it known that the campus is all about diversity. However, because I am white Christian female, I often feel that NC State isolates people who align with my religion and race. It is so intent on making minorities feel at home that it sometimes makes white Christians feel like we are intolerant and that people do not have to respect our race or religions like they do for others on campus. For example in one of my classes a student even said during an open classroom discussion how much she hated Christianity and how she thought that it was so stupid and thinks that it is foolish for people to practice Christianity. The instructor did nothing and she had no repercussions for this statement that anyone in the class was aware of. I do not blame the teacher though because I understand that it is a hard situation to be in and he probably did not know what to do. However, I feel as if I said these things about another religion, I would have been sent to student conduct and or expelled. / I understand that we do have freedom of speech, but I do not feel that NC State always makes it clear what is inappropriate and appropriate and does always take the appropriate measures to let students know this. I also feel that the students of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity were treated unfairly after that incident. I do not think the contents of the book were appropriate in any way and I do not stand behind them. However, as horrible as some of the comments were, these students technically never broke a law and NC State pretty much through them to the wolves. NC State should have worked with the National Pi Kappa Phi fraternity to ensure that separate diversity measures were taken for this organization. Instead, NC State did not stand behind their students, nor looked out for the safety of those in Greek organizations. Several women in my sorority were harassed by reporters because NC State did not know how to control the situation and keep student safety and well being a top priority. they also made sure these men were removed from their housing within such a short period of time. That was way to harsh. As a member of the greek community, I feel as though I have been discriminated against countless time for my organizational affiliation. NC State does not help this image by lumping every organization in with the bad behavior that a few individuals have done. I have also felt discrimination for my greek affiliation by faculty and other non-Greek students as well.	White	Female
By offering counseling centers for all types of topics, issues, and groups of people. Also, by having and supporting a huge variety organizations/ clubs regarding different races, religions, interests, etc.	White	Female
High number of support organizations like the Women's Center, Disability Services, LGBT Center, etc., as well as professional organizations like SWE, WISE, NSBE, SHPE, the list goes on. Students have many opportunities to learn about diversity and get involved to help plan diversity activities.	White	Female
Organizations, speakers, class requirements	White	Female
There are many events and organizations that promote diversity at NC State. If you want information or want o become involved, the resources are available to you. I do think that students who are already interested in becoming aware of diversity have plenty of opportunities to do so.	White	Female
Independent Student Groups, Events that feature diverse groups	White	Female
I think the openness and discussion is working well. The student leaders as well as faculty are openly involved.	White	Female

NC State's administrators do a good job of making it clear, verbally, that diversity is a priority on campus. There are also plenty of events and student groups that celebrate and educate about diversity.	White	Female nc state has a lot of opportunities for organizations and events that have a diverse population in attendance. ive really enjoyed the international friendship program. i think the other programs that i have heard of like the outdoor activities group outings etc seem pretty great	White	Female
I think NCSU has the minority students covered to the point that the majority students feel like we are being put down and out. I honestly feel like the majority students are being demonized just to make the minority students feel better. I wish that everyone could be treated the same way. NCSU is participating in self-segregation by having clubs and opportunities for only Black students or only Hispanic student, etc. Why can we not just share the opportunities across the board and have the higher qualified students receive the opportunity? NCSU has done a great job at tailoring for minority students, but it has left students of majority backgrounds in the dirt to fight for ourselves. Kind of ironic, isn't it?	White	Female
I think the different clubs and events help promote peoples difference and it help people gain more knowledge so they can make better decisions. I think this helps limit the amount of harassment done.	White	Female
I think NC State is doing a good job offering multi-cultural student organizations and events.	White	Female
Clubs, organizations, and events that promote multicultural awareness and diversity	White	Female
There are many camp organizations that focus on diversity, and these get the word out well and have regularly scheduled events.	White	Female
I think that there are plenty of events and classes that foster or inform people about diversity. I think that there are pockets of students who chose not to interact with people of other backgrounds nor take any class that help them learn about other diversity. I believe a general diversity and ethics class should be created and required of all students, which discusses sexual rights, religions rights, different backgrounds, what is legal and what is illegal in the US, NC, and on campus. Following the taking of this class, I also think that the school should have a ZERO TOLERANCE/expulsion for any students/organizations who discriminate against anyone in any way. Those who make racist, sexist jokes, those who sexually harass or assault, and those who behave in a violent manner towards others should be immediately expelled. I am very proud of the recent suspension of the fraternity whose book was found in a restaurant recently. I believe that by setting examples like that is paramount; where women/people of different ethnicities or religions/people of different sexual orientation and gender identification know for a fact that those who could cause them harm are no longer on campus or no longer organizing with like-minded people, the environment feels much safer and it can truly foster greater diversity.	White	Female
NC State as a whole does a great job of promoting cultural awareness through clubs/organizations and events.	White	Male
I think the active messaging to the student body by important official staff (student body president, chancellor, etc.) that includes specific information about diversity is very effective at informing students what issues are relevant. Specifically calling out frats for sexual assault at parties, specifically bringing up the racist comments made at the election of Cyrus as the new SBP, the clear support of LBGt community, THIS is what students notice. A mere email mentioning diversity is quickly ignored. / / By calling out people that make these comments or are the cause of these issues, we are insuring that they know that we do not accept this. We let them know that their ideas are wrong. Without narrowing down the source, it will continue.	White	Male
I think the programs implemented across campus have helped, but to be honest, the one thing that has helped me the most in changing my attitudes and behaviors with diversity were making friends who came from very different backgrounds than I did. Being in organizations such as Student Senate, have allowed me to meet a very diverse group of people at N.C. State and have made a significant in my life and how I treat others in regards to diversity. I think if we can give students more and more opportunities to engage students from a vast array of different backgrounds, we will only increase the support of diversity on our campus. / /	White	Male
I believe NCSU is making multicultural organizations easily accessible and supporting their events. I like that all of the information is available to all students.	White	Male
NC State is providing students with many opportunities to grow diversity by offering many different classes and organizations. The university needs to continue to do this by maintaining a very open and welcoming atmosphere to everyone.	White	Male

I don't necessarily think that NC State needs to go out of its way to support diversity outside of simply providing opportunities for students and/or faculty to create organizations and host events for whatever they care about. I think its more-so having the open mind-set to allow and host people who are from a diverse background, not necessarily putting forth policies to make diversity happen. For the size of school NC State has and will continue to be, diversity just happens, and its the job of the University to simply allow it to happen and protect against discrimination.	White	Male
All the efforts by NC State student organizations work well to promote diversity and awareness of other topics on campus. In addition, the resources present for those who need it work well to support diverse individuals find outlets for discussion. Finally, the support through social media and emails that occasionally get sent are reassuring to individuals who may be feeling alone or singled out.	White	Male
I think the choices for fulfilling university GEP requirements along with the events provided by NCSU and on-campus organizations serve well in promoting diversity.	White	Male
- Quick response from administrators to incidents against diversity / - Campus events sponsored by diverse campus organizations / - Diverse population	White	Male
I feel that the Diversity classes that are part of every major's curriculum are needed and an important piece of recieving a "well rounded" education. The workshops, student organizations and faculty do a good job at gaining awareness and education on all fronts.	White	Male
Student groups, student government, campus organizations.	White	Male
The services and organizations that are offered.	White	Male
The classes, sports teams, fraternities and sororities, clubs.	White	Male
The clubs, events, constant reminders through courses and emails from NCSU staff help to remind you to strive to promote ethnicity. Many professors as well are very good at promoting various viewpoints.	White	Male
The different clubs and organizations that celebrate diversity are working well.	White	Male
I think the opportunities we offer, through the university initiative and through campus organizations is excellent. I think our push for classes that involve diversity is becoming too overreaching, we are here for our degree.	White	Male
I think that there are a lot of clubs and organizations that support diversity and differing backgrounds. In moments where some need support the students step up. I think things are handled appropriately and campus is fine as it is. People get a bit sensitive at times but that's it.	White	Male
Student organizations that support specific classes of minorities, the residence hall experience, and a general accepting atmosphere promoted by the staff.	White	Male
Just let everyone work together in classes, student organizations, athletics, and other extracurricular activities. I have learned more about other types of people from being in class with them then anything else. NC State tries to force diversity on everyone and that is not the correct way to go about things. I took an US Diversity class and it was AWFUL, literally one of the worse classes ever. Although the instructor was polite she seemed to just talk about how bad white people treat other races, which really just left a bad taste in my mouth about diversity as a whole. I LOVE NC State, but it needs to stop trying to force diversity on everyone and focus on being the best academically that it can be.	White	Male
I believe that NC State is doing a great job to support diversity on campus with the use of clubs/organizations or meetings.	White	Male
I think clubs and groups (NOT fraternities) are a good way to integrate. I think diversity is something that should be embraced, but not emphasized because most people's set conceptions are based upon their upbringing; ie - I was raised to tolerate everyone and love everyone equally, but a racist guy in my class isn't suddenly going to have a breakthrough moment when working with a black peer if he was raised to not view them equally. I love that you guys try to shine light on the situation, but I think by the time we are in a college setting you either have learned how to embrace everyone equally, or are too set in your prejudiced views. That is why I believe there is too much emphasis on getting a diverse student body - let the students who are best qualified and want to be here be the ones attending school; it makes a productive and efficient society for all of us. Don't just accept hoodlums to the school to increase diversity. Having said that, I love the community at NCSU and have had nothing but good things to say about everyone I have encountered here in the past 4 years.	White	Male

Different student organizations	White	Male
I think all of the social events that are thrown together by various student organizations encourage a lot of people (of all types) to come and meet each other.	White	Male
Offering many clubs/organizations for diverse groups and providing support for people who may be harassed or discriminated against in some way.	White	Male
A positive attitude toward student organizations and events focusing on raising awareness of certain cultural groups, or fighting for equality among different cultural groups.	White	Male
I think NCSU is working too hard and wasting too much money on diversity. Here's the answer: Get over yourself. Grow up. You're not special. / / If you want a more positive message, well someone much smarter than me articulated it really well: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character." / / Need I say more? Focusing on the differences is toxic. Let's focus on people's character. If they're an idiot, they're an idiot - it doesn't matter what they look like. If they're a jerk, they're a jerk - color or preferences don't matter. And if they're great, well, they're great based on their own merit. / / Is this really that hard? If you still can't figure it out - raise your right hand, cut your hair, and join the military. The military is the most diverse organization in the universe, and guess what? No one is special. And surprisingly, it works really, really well.	White	Male
On campus, NC State does a sufficient job of supporting diversity through multicultural organizations and events, offering assistance through various support offices, and spreading diversity awareness through material taught in courselectures.	White	Male
Support organizations like counseling centers are good, and the chancellor's emails condemning groups that refuse to support diversity while promoting diversity are good.	White	Male
Encouragement to be involved in clubs and student organizations where interaction is required. This allows students to interact with those who are similar, but also with those who may be very different but share similar interests, which is very positive in supporting diversity. Also, the variety of opportunities at NC State attracts many different kinds of people with many different goals in life, which brings different kinds of people together in one place here at NC State.	White	Male
I think that there are a lot of good clubs and centers that support diversity on campus.	White	Male
The different organizations and trips offered.	White	Male
Hosting events/clubs/groups that welcome all races and religious backgrounds. It is nice to have groups dedicated to minority "hobbies/discussion" but I feel that is part of the cause of predigest views. The events including a variety of cultures or ethnicity have given me the most opportunity to talk to and learn from/about a person from different background than myself.	White	Male
The variety of student organizations here at NC state help the most. The glut club is especially helpful because it lets people know they aren't alone.	White	Male
The Women's Center and OIED both do a lot to support diversity on campus. I am involved with the Chancellors' First-Year Student Leadership Program and we thoroughly support the diversity on campus. The conversations regarding diversity and very frequent and very influential for my views on it.	White	Male
Organizations and groups that include a variety of races/ethnicities really foster diversity and cultural education.	White	Male
I think there are plenty of "centers" and organizations that support diversity. They do a good job making their presence known through the Technician, the SGA emails, and other campus wide notifications.	White	Male
There are many student organizations dealing with diversity available here that students are informed about through fliers and email that encourage them to join and participate.	White	Trans

I think having the centers for specific needs (like the women's center and the african america center) is good. Also events like the tunnel of oppression could be eye opening for a lot of students. I think an student body president that is active in diversity issues is what impressed me most this post year. Rusty Mau supporting protesters and speaking out against racism was a big step that made me proud of my school and it made a lot of people feel like our school supports them.	White	Trans
Lots of programs and organizations	White	Trans
I'm not really sure of the answer to this question since I am not in tune with NCSU diversity events and organizations.	White	Trans
Support of student organizations. Diversity events.	White	Trans
I think individual college organizations and faculty in classrooms work well to promote and support diversity.	Mult race	Female
The multitude of organizations supporting different groups on campus	Mult race	Female
NC State's immediate and swift actions against organizations or individuals who act in hate of any minority group is great. I believe it helps minorities to feel safe in the university and feel that the community supports them.	Mult race	Female
Advertisements on campus and information in the emails from the student body president.	Mult race	Female
In my two years at State, there has been more advocacy for diversity and more diverse campus organizations getting their name out there and having events relevant to what they represent. This kind of exposure to the rest of the student body whether it be in the brickyard, wolf plaza or Talley, is great and really important because I believe State has a lot of diversity that goes unnoticed.	Mult race	Female
Having the multicultural centers, African American center and all of the other minority centers. Spreading awareness through events, clubs, programs, and even in the classroom. Also, the Global Village is actually where I live, and they do plenty of programs and activities that embraces diversity.	Mult race	Female

There are a good amount of specialized centers, cultural groups, and clubs that help foster understanding and support students.	Mult race	Female
I think they have a lot of good organizations for everybody and always support equality between students.	Mult race	Female
The number of organizations devoted to different aspects of diversity is a good thing. They promote issues and make it more apparent that diversity is important here.	Mult race	Female
There is a widespread movement and NC State is really answering and going along with it well. All of the groups and clubs and other offices work well together.	Mult race	Male
What is working well is the faculty's respect for diversity. I am an engineer and when I walk into class there is usually only one other person who looks like me in the room. However, being a minority I am in MEP and that department does a wonderful job living it's mission because of the staff and administration. Dr. Jerome Lavelle and Angelitha Daniels and devoted to increasing the number of multicultural students in engineering and retaining those students until their graduation. More departments on campus must take the same approach and involvement as the engineering one does to make a difference in the academic side of things. Another thing that is working well is the accessibility to multicultural programming by housing staff. The majority of students live in a residence hall upon entering NC State, so that can play a key role in the climate and environment that one perceives NC State of having. Also, the on campus organizations that are bigger like IRC, UAB, CSLEPS, etc do a good job of putting on multicultural programs.	Mult race	Male
NC State has many resources available, such as diversity programs (WISE, etc.) in addition to extracurricular student-run clubs on campus that allow students to participate in and learn about diversity, should they choose to do so.	Mult race	Male

I think the faculty and administration are doing a great job of being supportive of and a source of information for students. I think the diversity clubs do a great deal to make every type of student feel welcomed. And I feel like most people on campus are supportive, sensitive, informed students. No where else have I felt more accepted and supported than at State and I'm very proud to be part of the Pack. I think the campus climate is much better than a lot of schools (including Duke, particularly when they had to deal with that huge debacle over including muslim call to prayer) and I wouldn't be the person I am today without the faculty, administration, and students that have gathered here on campus. University Housing does a great job of supporting diversity. Other campus programs such as Schools and other villages do as well. Diversity groups such as the Women's Center, etc also have great programs to support students. Student organizations such as SAGE also support diversity on campus. I think these programs however are not accessible to students living off campus.	Other/Unknown	Female
